Dear Chairmen Blunt and Cole and Ranking Members Murray and DeLauro:

The undersigned members of the Friends of HRSA recommend providing $7.48 billion for discretionary Health Resources and Services Administration programs in the FY 2016 Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies appropriations bill. The Friends of HRSA is a coalition of 170 national organizations dedicated to improving health through supporting a well-prepared workforce and the delivery of quality health services. The programs administered by HRSA strategically focus on improving care for underserved and at-risk groups in every state and U.S. territory.

The U.S. has the potential to have one of the healthiest populations in the world but too many families still face barriers to basic, quality health care. Our nation's ability to deliver essential public health services and a capable public health workforce are essential for a healthy and thriving population that can translate into a productive workforce and reduced health care costs.

As health coverage increases and the nation experiences a growing, aging and more diverse population, alongside health professionals nearing retirement age, it is ever more critical to make investments that improve access and support a high-performing workforce capable of meeting the changes and expected increases in health care demands. Not only are there current and projected shortages in the health professional workforce, many communities, both urban and rural, experience persistent shortages and lack access to care due to a geographic maldistribution of providers.

HRSA programs are responsive to the nation's evolving health needs and the agency is continuously exploring and supporting efforts to yield higher quality, improve efficiency and better leverage existing investments. The agency carries out critical public health programs that reach millions of Americans, including: providing primary care services to more than 21 million people; providing training and support for health professionals; supporting maternal and child health programs that serve over 42 million vulnerable women and children; serving about half of the 1.2 million people living with HIV/AIDS and preventing new HIV infections; and ensuring access to family planning services to more than 4.5 million low-income women, men and adolescents.

We urge you to consider HRSA's central role in strengthening the nation's health and provide $7.48 billion for HRSA's discretionary budget authority in FY 2016. For any questions regarding our request, please feel free to contact Nicole Burda at nicole.burda@apha.org or 202-777-2513.
