presents

Health Have and Health Have Nots: Now and Beyond the Pandemic

March 16, 2021 | 12:00 – 1:30 p.m. EDT

Public health affects all of us. Never has this been more evident than in the current pandemic. Understanding who are the “health have and health have nots” is essential to shaping the conversation around health and prioritizing positive steps to move forward. This talk will provide insights into the fundamental causes of health inequities that shape population health, the intersection of these inequities in the COVID-19 pandemic, and approaches to mitigate these inequities to improve health in our communities and nation. Changing the conversation on health to address equity has never been more crucial.

Join the Conversation with Sandro Galea, MD, MPH, DrPH

Dean and Robert A. Knox Professor, Boston University School of Public Health; Elected Member, National Academy of Medicine; Author, Pained, Uncomfortable Conversations about the Public’s Health and Well: What We Need To Talk About When We Talk About Health.

Moderator:

- Mary I. O’Connor, MD - Chair, Movement Is Life Caucus; Co-founder and Chief Medical Officer, Voya Health; Professor Emerita of Orthopedics, Mayo Clinic; Past Professor of Orthopaedics and Rehabilitation, Yale School of Medicine.

Register Today

For updates on upcoming Movement Is Life public events, webinars and livestreams, or to provide comments, please email us at events@movementislifecaucus.com.

Subscribe to the Health Disparities Podcast, Movement Is Life’s conversations about health disparities with people working to eliminate them.