NATIONAL BLACK NURSES ASSOCIATION Celebrates
Black History Month
with Black Nurse Leaders

Ottamissiah (Missy) Moore, RN has a wealth of experience and knowledge in nursing spanning over 37 years with extensive experience in Long-term care support and services, networking, and patient advocacy.

Ms. Moore provides supportive services for conference planning, trainings, and health care events to include leadership, health literacy, and other various topics.

Missy’s dynamic contributions to the nursing field are remarkable. She travels extensively throughout the United States training nurses, patients and families. She collaborates with national organizations such as the National Alliance for Wound Care and Ostomy and currently serves as the board president. Missy also collaborates with VITAS Innovative Hospice Care and the National Black Nurses Association to provide educational seminars and trainings on health care topics such as mental health first aid, wound care, hospice, care of the aging, community partnerships, and chronic care management.

Dedicated to growing professional and competent nurses, Ms. Moore hosts CEU workshops and meetings for RNs and LPNs throughout the year. And, she serves on numerous national boards and is a member of dozens of professional healthcare organizations.
